

WON FINAL GAME

St. Johnsbury Closed Base Ball Season With Victory Over Franklin—Played Snappy Game.

There was none of that what's-the-use-it's-the-last-game feeling shown by the St. Johnsbury baseball team in its final appearance for 1915 at the campus last Saturday. On the contrary the boys put more pep into their play than they have shown at any time during the season, and a large crowd enjoyed one of the clearest exhibitions of the national game staged by a St. Johnsbury team in a long while.

Franklin was the attraction and this speedy Granite state outfit was forced to play the goat, the locals handing out a 7 to 2 defeat to their guests. Of this number St. Johnsbury earned six runs against one clean tally for the visitors.

It was Sarrette's third appearance and it was the old story of sending the pitcher—either kind, take your choice—to the well once too often. Moore, Witt, Sullivan, Shea, Gallagher, etc., etc., were out with their war paint and war clubs, and the way they treated this clever boxman's offerings was anything but respectful. They had no respect for his feelings, but simply clouted the ball to all parts of the lot with the result that Sarrette became noticeably weary and ill at ease many times during the conflict.

On the other hand, Big Chief Davidson, the wittiest of the wits, as ever possessed—and that is some assortment as various summer residents of Fabians, Littleton, Barre and other villages will agree—grinned his way through nine innings and emerged from the fray with his stock barely touched. Six hits was the limit he would allow the visitors and so well scattered were the half dozen that only once did they figure in the run getting.

After the hard, up-hill fight against Franklin a week before, in which St. Johnsbury barely nosed out a winner, no such result was looked for last Saturday. But the locals never showed to better advantage, either at bat or in the field, and they simply played the visitors off their feet.

Nobody had put Sarrette wise to the fact that a ball had been discovered which neither Witt nor Cobb could hit, i. e., over the grand stand, and in his ignorance the Franklin twirler made the worst error of the game. He grooved one for Witt with two on. Can you guess what the Dutchman did to that one? You win, he did just that and it was good for three sacks and two runs. The ball was picked up over in the willows beyond the center fielder and the crowd for the last time was given a chance to show what they think of the modest thrower as a club wielder.

It was a farewell appearance that is bound to leave a good taste, and real regret—not of the stereotyped sports kind—was expressed when "Saul" pulled his last "Ou-e-e" as Sarrette died at first. The "welcome" sign is bound to be hanging out in 1916. Both players and the management deserve something for a summer of clean, wholesome sport, and although it is impossible for everyone to express his belief in persons who doubt that the turnstile will prove the truth of that, should they decide to put a team on the diamond next year.

The game started off brisk, Tommy fanning two out of three in the first inning. He also assisted in the other put outs. For the locals two bager, Hoernle also acted as did Davidson, Moore being doubled on the latter play.

Franklin failed to place a man in the second but the locals showed more speed. With two down Gallagher bunted safely, stole second and came home on Sullivan's single to right. Sullivan, in the second, but was out when Hayford made a quick return of Jarvis' throw to the plate.

Nothing to the third except a hit by Tommy which was spoiled when he tried to make it good for the second station.

In the fourth both sides registered. With one down Pease hit to center, but was forced on a grounder by Connor, the latter reached third on single by Hayford. Hayford went down to second on the throw and then the two pulled off a pretty double steal, Connor scoring. Claire was an easy out. For the locals Hoernle received a life on Claire's fumble, advanced on Jack Davidson's single and both scored when Witt gave the ball one of the longest rides on record. He brought up at third. Shea was out short to first and then Gallagher grounded to Sarrette. Witt attempted to score on the play but both were out.

Goose eggs for both in the fifth and then the memorable sixth. The visitors added one to their string in this session while the locals were not stopped until they had landed four. Burke hit a clean one to center and after he was advanced when Connor was passed. Hayford connected and Shea drove it to third. Witt let it get through and Burke scored. Claire fled and the run was over for Franklin. Moore started things for the locals with a hit to right. Hoernle batted him along with a bunt and J. Davidson contributed his mite—a sacrifice. Both scored when Witt refused to be passed and threw his bat at a wide one which landed safe over third. Shea, to help matters along, connected for a two sacker, on which Witt came home. Gallagher grounded out, but Sullivan singled on which Shea scored from second in regular Ty Cobb style. Keefe fanned.

This was the last of the scoring; but in the eighth, with two on and none out, Tommy got busy and fanned two while Hayford forced Burke and the locals retained their lead. St. Johnsbury injected a little comedy into the last inning when nearly all of the players went into new and unusual positions. "Sully" behind the bat held the up stage position, and his antics delighted the crowd. He not only looked at home in Hoernle's armor but he proved that he was there every minute. The score:

St. Johnsbury 2, Barre 1. A. C. 1.

Yes, Gallagher is greater than Sarrette. This was demonstrated on the campus Wednesday forenoon before one of the largest crowds of the season. True, the margin wasn't enough to humiliate the Franklin twirler who was working for the Barre 1. A. C., the score being 2 to 1. But it was a sure enough win and after the two previous ties between the same teams, local fandom had something really worth shouting about.

It was one of the fastest games ever played here, but two hours being required for ten innings. The pitcher showed a better form and played errorless ball while four plays were charged up against their opponents.

This clean cut victory puts aside all the talk and arguments which have resulted from the two former games which had anything but satisfactory endings and now it is generally conceded that St. Johnsbury has the goods.

Lowie, imported by the locals for this game, put up a star performance, being credited with two of St. Johnsbury's six hits, and one of them was responsible for a run. Keefe played his usual steady game in the field and took all the chances offered him with an ease that made some of the difficult plays look simple. Manager Moore was also on his mettle and his timely hit in the 10th proved to be the one wanted as it brought Gallagher home with the deciding tally. Hoernle showed up at the last minute and was immediately sent behind the bat, although Spillane and Twichell were both on hand to help out in the catching department.

Barre scored their only run in the first inning. With one out Gay singled and after Long was retired on a fly Camoli connected for a hit landing Gay on third. Gay scored while Camoli was being run down between first and second. St. Johnsbury failed to get a man on.

Sarrette drew a pass in the second but that was as far as the visitors got. In the locals half Witt singled, Shea was out on a close decision and Witt reached third when Gay fumbled Lowe's ball. The latter stole second but the best Sullivan could do was a short grounder on which he was an easy out and "Lefty" took the count of three.

In the next session the visitors failed to get as far as the first station. Moore got a life on Giacumuzzi's error but was out on second when Hoernle missed the ball on the hit and run. Hoernle later reached first on Stuart's error but was caught napping.

Again the nothing doing sign was out for the visitors, but for St. Johnsbury Jack Davidson singled and stole second. Witt was out on a long fly and Shea fanned. Lowe then connected for a single which dropped between Bottig and Long scoring Davidson. This tied up the game and Gallagher let out another throw.

The fifth saw the visitors again fail to place a man on base while St. Johnsbury worked one as far around as third, but the score keeper was still having a cinch.

In the next frame Lyon singled but was forced by Gay. Gay reached second on a wild pitch, but Long and Camoli were easy outs. Goose eggs were hung up for both teams in the next session.

The eighth and ninth failed to produce anything like a score for either team but in the first extra session both outfits went after something. St. J. landed theirs but their guests had to be content with getting a man on as far as first. With Giacumuzzi at the first corner, Gallagher fooled Bottig into taking three lousy swings. Sarrette fled out to Keefe and Riccarella also took the count. With one down Gallagher received a pass and stole second, Keefe fanned but Manager Moore brought the show to an end by placing a clean single into left on which Pitcher Gallagher crossed the pan. G. C. Cary, with nine head of short-horn, won five firsts, three seconds and one third; C. B. Stevens of North Danville with nine ayrshires won two championships and nine firsts. The Brown Swiss from Theodore N. Vail School of Agriculture won all the championships and firsts in their class.

A few friends enjoyed a party Sunday evening at the home of Arthur Vallier in honor of his birthday.

The Comus club enjoyed a supper Monday evening at the home of Miss Hazel Annis. Supper was served on the lawn and later in the evening a corn roast was indulged in. Miss Helen M. Bailey entertained the picnic club and a few other friends on Wednesday evening at a sewing party. When the company was invited into the dining room for refreshments they found the table prettily decorated with pink hearts and a doll in bridal array as a centerpiece. Their curiosity was soon satisfied when a telegram was received in which Mrs. Bailey announced the engagement of her daughter, Helen Martin, to Charles Hoyt.

Before Miss Bertie Wesselhoff Swift returned to Boston she entertained her pupils and a few friends at a musicale. The affair was given at the home of Mrs. Emma B. Babidge on Monday evening. The program consisted of eight or ten number, beautifully rendered by Miss Swift, a duet by Miss Swift and Mrs. Sigrid Eklof. The accompaniments were by Mrs. Margaret Gorham Glaser and the whole affair most delightful. Miss Swift plans now to return to St. Johnsbury another summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Spaulding entertained 15 at a family dinner Sunday, including Mr. and Mrs. Casius McGregor of Concord, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradshaw of Lyndon and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Spaulding and daughter Viola of Brownville, Me.

First Church of Christ, Scientist. Praise-Building, Sunday morning, 10:45. Subject, "Substance." The reading room is in the same building and is open daily, except Sunday, from 2:30 to 5 p. m.

The North church Sunday school will reopen next Sunday at 12 o'clock and the Brotherhood class will meet at the same time. The evening service at seven will consist of a stereopticon lecture.

Church of the Messiah, Universalist. The Ladies' Social Circle will meet with Mrs. A. W. Roberts, 36 Spring street tomorrow, Thursday. The young people of the church are invited to the parsonage for Friday evening.

Church and Sunday School next Sunday as usual; the pastor will preach.

KIRBY (Mrs. W. P. Russell, correspondent.) Havallin Thayer and family from Whitefield, N. H., visited at J. W. Nickerson's last Tuesday. Mr. Thayer is a boyhood friend of J. W. Nickerson's but they had not seen each other for 40 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward from Windsor visited at F. Houghton's last week.

Mrs. Clara Gage from Lyndonville visited at W. P. Russell's last week. The school house at Sugar Hill has been shingled and repaired in other ways.

H. W. Locklin from Portsmouth, N. H., came up to W. P. Russell's Friday to complete the wiring for electric lights. They have their building all lighted, getting the power from Lyndonville. Mr. Locklin returned Sunday. Mr. Russell taking him to Crawford, N. H., by auto.

Schools in town opened Tuesday for the fall term with the following teachers: Charles Copp from East St. Johnsbury at the North school, Mrs. Moulton from East St. Johnsbury on the mountain, Miss Florence Ranney from town at the south and Miss Trefren from Lyndon at the Sugar Hill school. The Brookside pupils will attend school at Red village, the Lyndon town farm pupils attending the North school in Kirby.

ST. JOHNSBURY CENTER Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson, Mrs. William Higgins of Barnet, Mrs. Sheldon Smith of New York city and Miss Florence Allen of Barre have been spending a few days at "Sons' Souci" cottage at Willoughby lake.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Howes-Noyes

On Tuesday evening in the presence of a church full of guests, Miss Isabel Fairbanks Noyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barber of Vermont, 1914, and Professor and Mrs. George E. Howes of Williamstown, Mass., were united in marriage by Rev. Frederick B. Richards. While the guests were arriving Mrs. Joseph Fairbanks played a musical program and before the ceremony Mendelssohn's wedding march. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with hydrangeas, gold and glow and pink perennial phlox, the flowers forming a bank in front of which the ceremony was performed. The wedding procession consisted of the ushers, Noel Noyes, Yale, 1917, Albert Ricker of Boston, Dartmouth, 1910, John Herlihy, Brigham McFarland of Hyde Park, University of Vermont, 1914, and Lieutenant Leigh Noyes, U. S. N., of Washington, D. C.; the groom's sister, Miss Marjorie Howes of Williamstown, Mass., Wellesley, 1917, Miss Isabel Gaskill of St. Johnsbury and Miss Margaret Newton of Norwich, N. Y., Wellesley, 1911, classmate and roommate of the bride at Wellesley; the maid of honor, Miss Daphne Selden of Deep River, Conn., Wellesley, 1913, and the bride on the arm of her father. The groom was attended by Elias Lyman, Jr., of Burlington, University of Vermont, 1911, as best man.

The bride wore the wedding dress, veil and train of Mrs. Isabel Fairbanks Farwell, for whom she was named. The dress was of ivory white faille Francis, trimmed with panels of silk net and ribbon applique flowers. Her veil was draped with a band and caught with illies of the valley and her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley in a lace wrapper. The bridesmaids and maid of honor's gowns were all fashioned after the style of 1880 and their stiff bouquets were of pink and yellow roses with paper borders. Miss Howes' dress was of sea green gros de londres; Miss Gaskill's of pale yellow silk with a gold lace panel and maline overdress; Miss Newton's of pale blue taffeta with a panel of silver lace and maline overdress; Miss Selden's of pale pink taffeta. The double ring ceremony was performed and as the bride party left the church Mrs. Fairbanks played a wedding chorus from "Lohen grin."

An informal reception for the relatives and most intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents on Winter street followed the wedding. The house was simply decorated with pink and white asters and green gladioli. The bride's parents and the groom's father and mother assisted them in receiving. Mrs. Noyes wore gray crepe de chene and Mrs. Howes white embroidered Canton crepe. The rest of the wedding party assisted in making the affair delightfully informal. Ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Phillips, H. H. and Mrs. W. S. Wheeler entertained relatives in East Barnet and Lyndon the past week.

C. A. Page has improved his residence with a new coat of paint. Mrs. C. A. Page entertained her sister, Mrs. G. R. Palver of Winchester, N. H., and Mrs. F. G. Hicks of Ashuelot, N. H., the past week. Miss Merna Hicks, who has spent the summer with her aunt, Mrs. Page, has returned to her home.

Miss Doris Smalley will attend school at Lyndon Institute this fall. Miss Anna Angell, who has been visiting in Randolph and Williamstown, returned Monday to attend school at Lyndon Center.

Marjorie Hall, Annie Gallagher and Guy Walter are attending school at Lyndon Institute and Ruth Leach goes to Montpelier next week to attend school.

Raymond Walter has been quite sick the past week. George Cole of East Burke was a week-end visitor at Lyman Walter's. Miss Allis Townsend returns this week to her home in New York.

Mrs. Louise Stoddard is entertaining her sister from St. Johnsbury. Mrs. M. M. Coe was a business visitor in St. Johnsbury last Friday. Superintendent J. A. Jamieson and Williamson-Learnmouth John Edward Williamson of Barton and Miss Elizabeth A. Learnmouth were quietly married on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Paul Dwight Moody at the South church parsonage. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McLeod. The bride wore her traveling suit of Copenhagen blue prunella cloth and a blue velvet coat trimmed with a white ostrich feather. They are spending their honeymoon in Sherbrooke and Angus, P. Q., after which they will reside at Barton where the groom is employed by the Nelson Hall Co. The bride is the only daughter of James Learnmouth of Oak street, and has always lived there. Her father expects to rent his house here and move to Barton to live with his daughter.

McLeod-Owen A quiet wedding was performed by Rev. Paul Dwight Moody, August 15, when Miss Bernice Leach Owen, daughter of James Learnmouth, Sr., became the bride of Osborne Ernest McLeod. The bride wore a gown of white charmeuse. Mrs. McLeod has been a clerk in F. W. Woolworth's store and Mr. McLeod is in the employ of Fairbanks Scale Company. They left Wednesday afternoon on a short wedding trip. On their return they will reside in St. Johnsbury.

The 25 cent piece was made famous by the American Liver Tablets, the perfect laxative.

ACADEMY OPEN

Dr. Fairbanks, Prin. Benedict then said he felt they were at the threshold of a newly opened door and they needed someone to point the way to them and presented Rev. G. A. Martin.

Mr. Martin said he wished to speak about "What I Would Do If I Were a Student Again." He believed the great mass of students before him were in school because they appreciated the value of an education, that they were seeking an education because it could do something for them nothing else could do. Education broadens our vision of life and increases our ability to analyze the conditions of the life we live. It makes our hands more adept, our vision and hearing keener in the conditions in which we find ourselves. Education makes us more independent and because education does all these things for us it is of great usefulness and value.

He said he would try to be a good student. Everyone should enter upon their studies with the same spirit they enter athletics. There should be the pride of victory in each day's lessons the same as there is in each athletic contest. He would be a good mixer and get in touch with his fellow students. Edward Everett Hale laid down three rules: Get out into God's open, commune with his fellow men and associate himself with those who knew more than himself. He would take a live interest in athletics as they are a necessary part of school life and he would identify himself with some branch of athletic work. He would actively identify himself with some form of religious work in school because it would help develop his character. Good character is the most valuable possession a person can have as nothing so develops good character as the Christian religion. A man's or woman's worth is very largely determined by their character.

Miss Brownell sang and Dr. Benedict said there came to him a remarkable thrill at the opening of another school year to think that he and the students were connected with such a tremendous movement. Today there are 20,000,000 boys and girls starting into or preparing to take up the school work of the year and we are a part of that vast throng. The best form of national preparedness is the proper preparation of the school children of the country to become worthy citizens. He defined a worthy citizen as one with an undiminished character, who can support himself and contribute something to the common good.
